What are B-articles

David Lackner - 2024-01-24 - B-Ware

B-articles, also called second-hand goods, are items that we offer at a special price of up to -30% because they are no longer part of our regular sales range, but are still fully functional. These can be exhibition items, returned goods or items whose packaging was damaged during transport. All these items are carefully checked for their functionality and our offer of free shipping and 30-day return policy remains fully intact.
